If you are arrested by ICE or the Border Patrol, you should immediately contact a lawyer before answering any questions or signing any documents.

If you do not already have a lawyer, you (or someone on your behalf) may telephone the USC Immigration Clinic and an Immigration Clinic lawyer will provide you with initial advice. If you are detained in Southern California, if possible, the Immigration Clinic will visit you where you are being detained and provide advice and, if appropriate, legal representation.

When you call the Immigration Clinic, if you leave a message, be sure to leave the following information in your message:

- 1) Full name; 2) Name under which you have been arrested (if different from Full Name); 3) Date of Birth, 4) Where you are being detained, 5) your DHS "A" number (if available), and 6) Booking Number (if available).
